

Leon Griesbach is a baritone soloist, organist, teacher, choral conductor, and piano technician based in Lisbon, Maine. As a performer, he has appeared as a soloist and conductor across the US and Italy specializing primarily in oratorio repertoire, English art song, and Gregorian Chant. He has held posts as choir master and organist in several major cities including Rome, Italy.

Leon is the founder and director of the Psalterium Institute, a choral music education and performance non-profit specializing in early choral music and teaching skilled amateurs and children to sing. He has been the artistic director for three seasons and has conducted the Institute's Chamber Choir, Boy Choir, Girl Choir in concert throughout the state of Maine.

Leon also loves pianos and—when he isn't singing, directing choirs, teaching, or spending time with his wonderful wife and six beautiful children—he runs a piano tuning and repair business here in Maine where he is privileged to maintain pianos for wonderful clients.

Leon is thrilled to be performing in The Magic of Christmas and honored to be appearing with Susie Pepper.
